Significant Activity in Audubon Park

In the month of April, there was one report taken for Criminal Mischief. This report was related to domestic violence that resulted in physical injury and damage to property. The victim in this case has taken an Emergency Protective Order.

Sgt. Barto stopped a traffic violator who was traveling at a high rate of speed on Audubon Parkway. The juvenile was detained, cited and released to a parent.

The annual Dogwood Festival was very successful from a law enforcement aspect with no reported problems, injuries or criminal activity. Officers were able to assist one attendee who became ill and several others who overestimated their ability to navigate the festival on foot with limited mobility. The department added extra officers during the festival hours to make sure that we had high visibility and that assistance was always close at hand during the events. Reserve Officers Jimmy Childress, Stu Hamilton and Anita Thomas came in to help us manage the traffic flow. Our reserve officers do not receive pay when they work. The Dogwood Festival was time that they donated on top of the required hours that they work every month. This is the kind of dedication that our officers bring to the City of Audubon Park and we appreciate them and their hard work.
