Significant Activity in Audubon Park

June was another incredible month in Audubon Park. This is the second month in a row with absolutely no offense reports. Our low crime rate may lead some people to believe that we do not even need a police department in Audubon Park. I would remind you to look at the crime rates in surrounding areas. The fine men and women of this department are the reason criminals choose to go elsewhere. Every single one of them stands ready to protect you and your loved ones from harm. We have an outstanding group of officers at Audubon Park that are second to none. I am very proud of the work that they do each and every day.

Detective Tim Snook and Officer Don Passafiume did an outstanding job rounding up a man who has been charged with felonies 30 times beginning in 2011. Those arrests do not include any of his numerous misdemeanor charges. We initially received a request for extra patrol on a residence in Audubon Park due to a potential domestic violence situation. Detective Snook quickly found information about another address where the man might be staying. Within hours of the initial request for patrol, Detective Snook and Officer Passafiume located him at a nearby location. The man was in a vehicle and was not at all willing to surrender and be placed under arrest. Together, Detective Snook and Officer Passafiume have over 40 years of law enforcement experience. They put that experience to work and were able to place an agitated and resistant felon under arrest without having to resort to the use of physical force. This is just one example of the dedication to service and professionalism that our officers exemplify every day. I will be placing letters of commendation into the personnel files of both officers.

We are working hard to ensure that the Summer will continue to have low crime rates in Audubon Park and we strive for days with no crime at all. You should all be proud to know that these are the types of individuals working for you and our residents.
